THE GREAT REGULATOR
SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR
SLR
PURELY VEGETABLE.

Are You Bilious?
The Regulator never fails to cure. I most cheerfully recommend it to all who suffer from Bilious Attacks or any Disease caused by a disarranged state of the Liver.
KANSAS CITY, Mo. W. R. BERNARD.

Do You Want Good Digestion?
I suffered intensely with Full Stomach, Headache, etc. A neighbor, who had taken Simmons Liver Regulator, told me it was a sure cure for my trouble. The first dose I took relieved me very much, and in one week's time I was as strong and hearty as ever I was. It is the best medicine I ever took for Dyspepsia.
RICHMOND, Va. H. G. CRENSHAW.

Do You Suffer from Constipation?
Testimony of HIRAM WARNER, Chief Justice of Ga.: "I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for Constipation of my Bowels, caused by a temporary Derangement of the Liver, for the last three or four years, and always with decided benefit."

Have You Malaria?
I have had experience with Simmons Liver Regulator since 1865, and regard it as the greatest medicine of the times for diseases peculiar to malarial regions. So good a medicine deserves universal commendation

The Master Blacksmith.

You would never have imagined it from the turn of his lips. They were a very ordinary pair indeed when in repose, which, to tell the exact truth, was not often; but this morning they were puckered up in the most comical manner, wrinkling his ruddy cheeks and giving his whole physiognomy a distorted and distressed appearance painful to behold. But he was an excellent whistler. Of that there was not the smallest doubt. Clear, resonant, trilling up and down the mazy lanyrinths of two octaves with never a false note; his hands in his pockets, his tattered straw hat thrown back on his curly head, his sturdy feet, brown and bare, kicking little clouds of dust in the road which wound along the base of a stony hillside almost at a white heat beneath the rays of the noonday sun.

Suddenly the music ceased. Evidently our musician had whistled himself out of a brown study into some sort of a decision, for he stopped, picked up a pebble, and tossed it over the fence with a jerk.

'Yes, I'll do it. I don't like it, but she'll never find it out. I'm pretty near wore out thinkin' fore and thinkin' agin' and heavin' first one side then t'other. But it's over with at last, and ain't I glad of it though!'

With quickened footsteps he now turned to the right and ascended the hill, entering a small cottage surrounded by a well kept lawn, bordered by a choice collection of annual flowering plants, now in the height of their beauty.

'Well, mother,'—to a slender pale-faced woman who stood at an ironing table—'I've decided. It's all right. Gadford's got me. Thought it all over, just as you said. I'll begin with him to-morrow if he says so.'

'You're sure now, my son—very sure it's your own will and choice?' replied his mother, anxiously.

'Dead sure,' returned the lad, stoutly. 'Of course a blacksmith's apprentice can't put on so many airs as if he was studyin' medicine but that ain't anything, you know—is it?'

'Have you ever put on any airs, Jerry, or have you ever desired to?' aswered the good woman, laughing.

'No, no, of course not'—a little impatiently. 'But in the eyes of other folks, you know, 'Doctor Atman' would—would sound more dignified like than 'Jerry Atman, blacksmith'—wouldn't it, now?'

'The trade your father followed, and the reputation he earned as a good workman and an honest man,' returned the widow with sparkling eyes, 'sounded as well in the ears of this community as that of Dr. Fields, who has so kindly offered to to take you in his office. You might make an excellent physician—that remains to be proven; but as a blacksmith you are sure of success from the start.'

'Oh, yes, any one can learn that trade,' retorted Jerry a little bitterly, so much so he strove to disguise the tone with a feeble whistle.

'By no means,' returned Mrs. Atman, quickly. 'Master blacksmiths are rare. To shoe a horse well is in itself an art. Why not begin with the determination of becoming an artist in iron? You inherit your father's talents. Don't be ashamed of them. Remember, my son, you need not, if you will not, remain chained to the forge for life.'

Jerry sprang to his feet with a shining face and tossed his hat across the room. 'God bless you for saying that mother! If I am man enough to make the chain, I can cut the links when I want to, can't I! Hurrah! hurrah? Gadford forever!

Blaketon was a small village nestling among the hills in the southern part of Ohio.

Among the many institutions of this village, which gave it name and fame throughout the country, was a long, low, rambling structure, black with the smoke of fifty years. Here the fires in two forges were constantly ablaze, and the merry music of hammer and anvil could be heard at all seasons of the year, regardless alike of wind and weather.

The presiding spirit of this establishment was an eccentric, middle-aged man, with a tongue ever wagging over the small gossip of the neighborhood, which he benevolently dispensed to the group or idlers who seldom failed to give him more or less of an audience. This fact being recognized, some unknown party had dubbed the shop 'Gadford's Harbor,' a name it had held and honored for many years.

It was a cold frosty morning in November. Mr. Gadford had begun work. For a wonder, he was alone. A circumstance so unusual apparently had its effect, for he dropped his hammer and went to the door.

'I wonder what's the matter with Jerry this morning?' he muttered, as he filled his pipe and squinted up and down the long street. 'First day he's been off time since he started in. Somethin's up or down with him, sartin I never seen a boy so bent on gittin' at a trade in my life but he's tryin' to move with it a leetle fast for a beginner. Some says conceity folks is the kind what wins. I wonder if they do? I never thought nothin' of myself—nothin' at all: and look at me now! I don't think there's a horse in the state I can't shoe to the notch, nor any work in iron I ain't up to. Solid worth is what takes the lead, but stuck-upitiveness, never! I guess I'll have to drop this 'prentice of mine a peg or two. All I hope is they won't be no broken bones!' and he turned to his forge with a chuckle.

Considerably out of breath, Jerry Atman bounded into the shop, tossed off his coat, and was into his leathern apron in a jiffy.

'Couldn't help it, Mr. Gadford. Mother's sick. My aunt is there now, sir, and I guess I'll be on time after this,' as he took a shovelful of coals from his master's forge to light his own.

'No excuse needed in a case like this,' replied the blacksmith, slowly. 'No fault to find with you on that score, Jerry.'

'Any fault to find anywhere, sir?' queried his apprentice, the roar from the bellows almost drowning his voice.

'Not gene'lly, not 'tickerly, boy; but still I might say, in a fatherly kind of a way, that you're gittin' just a little to smart fer a cub!'

'Too smart for a cub'—what do you mean sir?' cried our hero with a flushed face.

'What do I mean?' replied his master, with a loud laugh—'why, jist what I've said, of course. What have I been doing' these thirty years. Tendin' to my trade, haven't I? When I worked as a 'prentice I acted like one. You don't, you see. Who ever heerd of a feller in your place studyin' grammer, and borrowin' books to read after night? When you go home, do like I did—keep your mind on your bis'ness. Don't think of nothin' but that. I don't want no scholar here fer a cub, nor no one that stands off from the crowd and won't be drawed into no talk unless its related of to some eddicated thing or 'nother. You're soarin' too much, young man. I don't like it. Nobody else does. Now git to work and quit it!'

Jerry stood for one moment irresolute. His face was hot with passion, and a savage rejoiner was on his tongue; but he thought of his mother. In spite of his narrowness, his master was kind, and an excellent workman. So he turned on his heel and whistled. Mr. Gadford glared at him savagely out of the corner of his eye, and had it on his lips to order the music stopped, but thought better of it, and pounded his thumb with the hammer instead.

Blaketon could boast of but one dry-goods store, but that was an unusually large and extensive one for so small a place. Mr. Silas Upton, the proprietor, had done a thriving business that pleasant April day and he watched the sun declining behind the hills with no particular regret. But trade was not done yet, apparently, for no less a person than our friend Jerry Atman entered and advanced toward the counter.

'And what can I do for you, my friend?' inquired the merchant, rubbing his hands and smiling blandly.

'But a very little, sir; hardly worth your time and trouble; only a pair of suspenders, and not very expensive ones either.

'Here they are, strong as a rope and as elastic as—as you are, I take it,' glancing at the young man's well-knit frame.

'They look like good ones, that's a fact. You needn't mind doing them up. I will pay you Saturday night when I get my wages.'

With a deft movement, Mr. Upton snatched the suspenders from the purchaser's hands and tossed them back into the box, with the words:

'Don't begin in that way, young man! Don't start out in life by asking credit. Come, let me give you a lesson. Pay as you go. If you don't pay, don't buy! That is the way I began. Don't spend your money before you get it. That's my advice, and you'll thank me for it some day.'

It is needless to inform the reader that our friend Jerry was somewhat astonished not to say embarrassed, at the turn affairs had taken. He knew well enough, disguise it under the form of advice as he might, that the merchant hesitated to trust him even for so small a sum. He had never before felt so lowered in his own estimation. This did him good. His thoughts flew fast. Suppose he should act on the advice so freely given? It was sound enough. Let him show no ill-will and bear it like a man. This resolution was taken, he held out his grimy hand with the words:

'You have hit me hard, Mr. Upton, and I should lie to you if I said it didn't hurt. But I think it'll do me good. I am pretty sure I shall never forget it. Will you shake hands, sir?'

It was now the merchant's turn to show preplexity. It is very likely he would have preferred losing the whole box of suspenders to such hearty acceptance of his fatherly counsel. With an embarassed smile he took the outstretched hand, and winced as he felt the firm pressure of the fingers against his own. His well of advice being pumped dry, he had nothing more to add as his would-be customer touched his hat and departed.

At precisely half past six o'clock Saturday night Jerry entered the store and purchased a pair of suspenders paying for them on the spot. The clerk made the sale, and Mr. Upton, busied with his books, looked up with a perplexed countenance, scratched the bridge of his nose reflectively, and was lost again.

'I tell you he's above his bis'ness!' exclaimed Mr. Gadford, one bright May morning, to a group of his old cronies, who lounged about the Harbor, engaged in idle conversation. 'There's no doubt about that in my mind. A pretty blacksmith he is, to be everlastin'ly readin' and studyin'! He isn't one of us, that he isn't. I've tried my best to reform him, but tain't no use. He's in a manner—in a manner, I say, a disgrace to the trade, and I'm ashamed of him!' and the outraged blacksmith kicked a piece of iron spitefully on side with his heavy boot, and began filling his pipe as a solace for his ruffled thoughts.

'He learned the trade, anyhow, didn't he?' queried old John Cliver, a superannuated wagon-maker, who, presuming on his age and infirmities, often asked disagreeable questions.

'I don't say as he hasn't,' retorted Mr. Gadford, moodily. 'He served his time, and I don't turn out no poor workman—no, not if I know it, I don't; but learnin' and blacksmithin' won't mix, nor more nor oil and water. Why I know it for a fac' that he's got a library, gentlemen'—here the speaker spat on his hands and grasped his hammer as if desirous of demolishing it forthwith—'and reads everything. Associates with Preacher Banks, changes books with him, you know, and talks over theologys and things just as if—as if he wasn't a blacksmith. Where'd I have been to-day if I had started out by puttin' on airs and gittin' above my bis'ness? But I didn't. I stuck to my trade, and now where am I? Where am I, eh?'

The awful silence which followed this query was its only answer.

'Now, how'd I do it?' continued Mr. Gadford, in a slightly mollified voice. 'By mindin' my bis'nes and lettin' the fine arts alone. Jerry Atman 'll never build up a character in this country. He's a-dividin' himself too much; and a house, as the Scripture plainly say, divided agin' itself will great be the fall thereof!'

'Reckon' you haven't heard the news?' inquired Mr. Cliver, who did not appear particularly overpowered.

'No. What news?' from the Harbor in chorus.

'Got his patent yesterday. Told me all about it. Something new, too—a plow-harrow; that is, a harrow so made that it can be attached to any plow, and level the ground as it is turned over. He's had an offer for the State already, but says he will manufacture it himself. He's rented the old Sadler shop, and will start as soon as he can get things together. This is all. I'll be around to-morrow, as usual,' and the old man limped slowly away.

Silas Upton was a good business man. Not only was he convinced of this himself, but the community at large held the same opinion. But good business men sometimes make mistakes. Mr. Upton had done so. Such a simple thing, too. He had only written his name below that of a friend, merely to comply with a matter of form. His friend had unfortunately failed in his enterprise and left the country; and Mr. Upton woke up one morning to find himself called upon to pay a note of several thousand dollars. This he did in his usual brusque, business-like manner, fully aware that he would have nothing left—that he would be a ruined man. Everybody wondered 'how he was going to get along now.' They shook hands mournfully with him, and in a dejected manner, with the cheerful suggestion that, after all, 'it might be worse, you know,' which was very comforting indeed.

Jerry Atman, blacksmith, was making a success of his business. He had got all the capital he wanted by selling some territory, and no more was for sale at any price. He had turned manufacturer himself, and was pushing things with a rush. But he was still scheming, as this was what brought him down to Gadford's Harbor so early in the morning. The proprietor of that resort was hard at work, and he greeted our hero with a sullen nod.

Jerry didn't seem to notice his cold reception at all. He was too full of business for such small matters. 'I have come to make you an offer,' he said, deliberately.

'I don't want no offer!' replied his old master intent upon his work.

'I'll make it any way. My patent is a success. I never suspected so simple a thing to meet the approbation of every body. Orders are coming in so rapidly I cannot fill them. Now I want to let out the contract for the iron work to some man master of his business. You are that man. If I prove to you that acceptance of this contract will net you three dollars to the one you now receive, will you take hold of it?'

Mr. Gadford laid down his hammer took off his hat and scratched his bald head in a feeling manner, as he glanced with a dismayed look at his former apprentice. He saw his opportunity. The voice of the community was too strong for him now. He knew this young man had a power and he felt it. Had he dealt fairly with the youngster? No he hadn't. Then why should the youngster deal fairly with him? This was his religion. It was a very poor one, but it was the best he had.

'I ain't in no shape to ask favors of you Jerry Atman,' he answered stiffly.

'Why, I'm not conferring a favor, I'm asking one, Mr. Gadford. Little do I care what you said. It's a sign of small timber to bend before every blast. Come, now let's figure a little: and as you are pretty good in that line, prove me wrong if you can!'

Mr. Silas Upton had almost made up his mind to move to the county seat. He had the offer of a clerkship at a very small salary, but that was better than nothing. A loud knock at the door roused him from his half formed decision. He opened it, and in walked Jerry Atman.

'I called to pay you a debt of gratitude, sir,' he said in a blunt way.

'Debt of gratitude. I do not understand,' replied Mr. Upton, as he handed his visitor a chair.

"I stand your debtor, nevertheless," returned our hero, as he unrolled a small package and produced a pair of suspenders. "Do you recognize them, sir?"

"I—I think I do," stammered the merchant, with a painful flush.

"These are the very ones I bought and paid for on that memorable Saturday evening after I received my week's wages of two dollars. I never wore them, I took them home and laid them away. When I felt like asking credit in any enterprize since then I have looked them up before coming to a decision, and they have always carried the day. Whatever of success I have made or will make dates from the time I purchased this simple article. Now I need a man to travel in the interest of my patent and sell to the trade. I want you. I cannot afford large wages to begin with, but if seventy-five dollars a month and expenses will suit you you may begin to-morrow if you like.'

'Oh, Jerry, Jerry, you cut me to the heart!' cried Mr. Upton, the tears standing in his eyes. "To think that my lack of confidence in you—'

'That has nothing to do with it,' interrupted the manufacturer, with a nervous laugh. 'Will you, or will you not—that is the question?'

It is needless to state that Mr. Upton did not need much persuasion, and entered upon his duties with alacrity and vim.

Gadford's Harbor suddenly developed into a three-story brick, and a great many idle craft that formerly moored in its waters set sail in the employ of the owner. In Jerry's office, directly above the desk, a pair of cheap suspenders hang in an elegant frame. Mr Gadford, foreman of the shops, and Mr. Upton, the traveling salesman, now stockholders in the concern, are alone in the secret of what is the cause of much wonderment to the gossips of the neighborhood.—Christian Union.

Curious Easter Customs.

Perhaps the most singular of these is a practice in vogue in the northern counties of England, where on Easter Sunday the male portion of the community parade the streets, claiming the privilege of raising every woman three times from the ground, and in compensation receiving a silver sixpence or a kiss.

The early Christians greeted each other with a kiss and the announcement: "Christ is risen," to which answer was made: "He is risen indeed," and this form is still practiced in the Greek Church.

The pace or pasche eggs have always been universally associated with Easter, even sums of money set apart for them, as shown in the royal record of time of Edward I., where is entered eightenpence for four hundred Easter eggs. The children used colored eggs variously ornamented in a game where they tested the strength of the shells. The game of ball civil corporations gravely engaged; and this sport was within late years kept up in Bury St. Edmunds by twelve old women. The olden legend of the sun dancing in the sky on Easter morn was current in parts of England and Ireland.

Presbyterians, Unitarians, Methodists and Bapists all join in these floral decorations of Easter. All mankind is glad that the death sleep of nature has awakened to a glorious and hopeful resurrection morning. No wonder that we rejoice and are glad, and hail Easter as a gay and lifegiving holiday! It comes after the sad and impressive ceremonies of Good-Friday, after the six weeks' fasting and prayer, after winter's desolation and the "service of the Tenebrae".

Beecher and His Cow.

He could tell a story well, and I remember seeing one he once told about a cow which he received in payment for a debt. I think he told the story in one of his lectures. He said:

"It was a very bad debt, and I came to consider it a bad payment. She was a thin cow, but the former owner said she was better than she looked, being a cross between a Jersey and the Durham. She looked as though she might have been a cross between an old hair trunk and an abandoned hoopskirt. I kept the brute three days, and no one could appreciate the suffering I endured in that time. The first night she broke through the fence and reduced to a pulp all the underclothing belonging to my next door neighbor.

"She put her horns through my bathtub and ate up all my geraniums. She was to give three gallons of milk a day, but she seemed short just then, and never had that to spare while we kept her. The second day she walked into the kitchen and upset a pan of butter and a tub of lard. Then she fell down a well, and when I got her out at a cost of five dollars, she took the colic, wooping cough, or something, and kept us awake all night. Not a green thing was left in my garden; my neihgbor's peach trees and the rope on which his underwear grew were as bare of fruit as a singletree, and he did not have a twig of shrubbery left. My neighbor came over to me and said:

"Now, I don't desire any quarrel but I want you to keep your cow out of my shrubbery."

"And I want you, my friend,' I said, 'to keep your shrubbery out of my cow."

The Witch's Fate.

A Cruel Prejudice of Old Times More Than Equaled Now.

Not many decades ago in this country, the people were excited over witchcraft. Persons suspected were thrown into the water; if not witches, they would drown; if they were witches, they would swim ashore, and would be put to death! In any event, they were doomed!

Not many years ago if a person were taken sick with advanced discrder of the kidneys, the physician would pronounce the disease Bright's disease, and when so declared, he regarded his responsibility at an end, for medical authority admitted that the disease was incurable.

When the physician found a patient thus afflicted, he would say, "Oh, a slight attack of the kidneys; will be all right in a little while." He knew to the contrary. But if he could keep his patient on his hands for a few months, he knew he would derive a great revenue from his case, and then when the disease had progressed to a certain stage, he would state the facts and retire, exonerated from all blame.

But the error of supposing the disease incurable has swayed the public mind, long after the fact has ceased to be. But public opinion has been educated to the true status of the case by those who have discounted the incurability theory, and the public recognizes and testifies to the fact that Warner's safe cure is a specific for this disease. This has been shown with thousands of testimonials.

Upon referring to them in our files we find that $5,000 reward will be given to any one who can prove that so far as the manufacturers know they are not genuine, and that hundreds of thousands similar in character could be published, if it were necessary.

This condition of things is very amusing to the journalist, who looks upon all sides of every question. Proof should be accepted by all, but prejudice fights proof for many years. It seems strange that when a proprietary medicine is doing the good that Warner's safe cure is, that the physicians do not publicly indorse it. Many of them, we are told, privately prescribe it, as it is sold by dealers in every part of the country.

A few years ago, as stated, when a man had Bright's disease, the doctor boldly announced it, because he thought it relieved him of responsibility.

To-day when prominent people are dying (and hundreds of thousands of common people die of the same disease) we are told that doctors disguise the fact that it is Bright's disease of the kidneys and say that they die of paralysis, of apoplexy, of pneumonia, of consumption, of general debility, of rheumatism, of heart disease, of blood poisoning, or some other of the names of the direct effects of kidney disease. They are not the real disease itself.

We sometimes wonder if they avoid stating the real cause of disease for fear they will drive the public into patronage of the only scientific proprietary speciiic for kidney disease and the thousand and one disease that originate in inactive kidneys.

We do not believe every advertisement we read. Some people perhaps may regard this article as an advertisement and will not believe it, but we are candid enough to say that we believe the parties above mentioned have stated their case and proved it, and under such circumstances the public is unwise if it is longer influenced by adverse prejudice.

A Valuable Barn Burned.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., March 31.—The barn of Theodore Beaumont, in East township, was burned this morning with its contents, including ten horses, forty cows, and about eighty sheep and lambs. When discovered nothing could be done to save it, and the building was totally consumed. Besides the live stock, a large quantity of hay and grain and farming inplements was destroyed The loss of the building alone will be $60,000 partly covered by insurance in a local company.

The Millheim Journal.

THURSDAY, APRIL 7TH, 1887.

Published by R. A. BUMILLER.

WILLIAM S. PIERCE, Associate Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia, died on Monday of heart disease. He was highly honored by all his associates and had just entered upon his third term as Associate Judge, to which he was elected by Republicans and Democrats, though being a republican himself.

SENATOR SHERMAN is at present on a roundtrip in the South pretending to convince himself of the industrial progress of that part of the country. The sly old fellow feeds the Southern people lots of taffy and takes particular care not to use any bloody shirt language. But the people there knew something about John before he honored them with his hypocritical presence and they are quite sure that the visit of the old Republican politician is simply his initiatory step of the presidential campaign of 1888. Selah!

THE CENTENNIAL of the Constitution of the Unites States was recently discussed by the committee in charge of the arrangements and representatives of the papers of Philadelphia in a conference held in the Continental Hotel. The main question at hand was the manner of raising the necessary funds to defray expenses. Though Congress voted an appropriation of $100,000 for the purpose, it adjourned without final action and the committee must now depend upon the financial help given by the several states in the Union. Delaware, Connecticut and Massachusetts have already responded to the call and Pennsylvania is expected to follow suit. A bill favoring an appropriation to the centennial is now before the respective committees in both houses of the state legislature. The programme will consume three days, to be arranged as follows: First day military parades, second day industrial parades, third day general jubilee with addresses, etc.

ABOUT the constitutionality of apportioning the state into congressional districts seven years after the decennial census, ex-Attorney-General Palmer writes to the Wilkesbarre Record this evening as follows: "The constitution commands an apportionment immediately after each United States decennial census. To be literally obeyed a special session of the legislature in the census year ought to be held, regular sessions being biennial, unless a regular session chance to occur at that time. No one ever contended for such a severe construction. Immediately does not mean instantly, but as soon thereafter as the legislature may convene. The framers of the Constitution expected a new apportionment every ten years, but the failure on the part of the legislature to perform this act works no repeal of existing apportionment laws until supplied by new. The old laws are operative, and members elected in conformity with them are certainly entitled to seats in congress."

THE local elections in the western states on Tuesday resulted as follows: The election for associate judge of the supreme court in Milwaukee was a democratic victory, Harlow S. Orton, being re-elected. In Milwaukee county the democrats and republicans placed a fusion ticket in the field against the labor party. The fusion candidates for judge of the circuit court and of the superior court carried the day by 2000 majority In Kansas the women availed themselves very generally of their newly acquired privilege of suffrage. At several points women were elected to membership on the school boards. At Dubuque, Iowa, the Knights of Labor ticket made a full sweep, while in Chicago, Ill., labor was largely outvoted and Roche (republican) was elected by about 28,000 majority. The municipal election in Toledo, Ohio, have a mixed result, the republicans electing their candidates for mayor, police commissioner, prosecutor, city solicitor. The democrats have the judge and water works trustee and the school board. The board of aldermen is tie. In Denver, Col., the indications are that the republicans elected the mayor. St. Louis, Mo., was carried by the democrats. In Michigan the republican plurality on the state ticket will be about 6000, while the prohibitory amendment was defeated by about 3,500.

EASTER EGGS form an important factor in making the Easter holidays a season of happiness and joy. Few however are aware of the deep meaning which lies in the time honored custom of presenting Easter eggs. In looking at the etymology of the word "Easter" we find that it has its origin in the Anglo-Saxon word Eastre, from Ostara, a goddess of light or spring in whose honor the people of the ancient World celebrated the equinoctial season, by giving colored eggs to their friends to remind them that like the egg contains the germ of life so nature is being awakened to new life in the spring of the year. Later on, the first christian workers endeavored to harmonize the old heathen usage with the christian religion by connecting another and more important lesson with the former celebration. The Easter festival was subsequently observed by the church in commemoration of Christ's resurrection and the Easter eggs continued to figure as part of the programme, but were used as an illustration of the thought that as slumbering life in the egg only needs help to be awakened, so has the world through the death and resurrection of our Saviour gained everlasting life. This is the deeper meaning of the easter egg, and it will be a profitable lesson for parents to give to their children along with the eggs on Easter morning.

THE bill introduced by Representative Shaeffer, of Clinton county, entitled an act to secure to laborers a lien for their work and labor done in and upon and about the cutting, peeling, skidding, hauling, sliding, banking, driving and running of saw logs, squared timber, prop timber, hoop poles, railroad ties, bark and other timber and lumber, passed the House finally on Tuesday morning. The bill will meet the hearty approval of all lumbermen. In the afternoon session a number of bills were passed finally, among them the one authorizing the councils of the boroughs of this commonwealth to regulate and fix the amount of license to be paid by persons or firms engaged in the business of auctioneering within the limits of the same.

The bill requiring the payment of certain premiums to the fire department of cities and incorporated boroughs by fire insurance companies not organized under the laws of this commonwealth, but doing business therein for the relief of disabled firemen and regulating the disbursement thereof, also passed finally by 144 yeas to 23 nays.

ARBOR DAY proclamations are in order and in pursuance with the custom Governor Beaver issues the following:

In the Name and by the Authority of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. In pursuance of a goodly precedent, and in compliance with a request of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania contained in a concurrent resolution, approved the 30th day of March. A. D. 1887, I have appointed and designated and do here appoint and designate,

FRIDAY, THE 22D DAY OF APRIL, A. D. 1887, AS ARBOR DAY.

And I do earnestly recommend to the people of the Commonwealth that they devote the whole or at least a portion of the said day to the Trees and Shrubbery wherever it may be proper and convenient so to do.

Let school directors, teachers, and scholars unite in making it a day for the adornment of the grounds surrounding the school houses throughout the Commonwealth. Let the people of our towns and villages make it a day for the planting of trees along their streets Let the people in our rural regions see to it that their highways are beautified by the planting of trees upon their borders. Let families observe the day in the planting of trees and shrubbery in the grounds surrounding their homes. Let the farmers see to it that the waste places on their farms are turned to profitable account by the planting of timber, nut, and fruit trees thereon. Let the people understand that upon the general observance of this cap, and the practice results which arise therefrom, in large measure depend the continuance of regular seasons of rainfall the tempering of our climate, the beauty of our homes and highways, the timber supply of the future, and a remunerative return for labor bestowed upon lands not otherwise productive.

The observance of Arbor Day is becoming general in many of our states; its necessity is recognized by those who have given the greatest care and study to the subject; and its practical usefulness is tested by all who have engaged in it.

In case the day herein designated should be unsuitable in any portion of the Commonwealth let an adjournment be had to some future day which will suit the climate and convenience of the locality.

Given under my hand and the great seal of the Commonwealth at Harrisburg, this 1st day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven, and of the Commonwealth the one hundred and eleventh.

By the Governor:

JAMES A. BEAVER.

CHARLES W. STONE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our regular correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, April 4, 1887.

Probably never before in the history of the United States Treasury Department has a Secretary been appointed who was so universally popular as is its new head. Not the faintest sound of criticism or complaint of Mr. Fair child is to be heard from any source. When the first rumors of Secretary Manning's resignation were circulated about the Department, the wish was expressed by his subordinates on all sides that the Assistant Secretary would be promoted to succeed him.

Without discussing such profound questions as Mr. Fairchild's financial policy, it can be truly said that not in years has there been a Secretary of the Treasury so heartily congratulated, and never before did a Secretary open his doors to shake hands and receive the personal congratulations of those under him, even down to the lowest rank.

It was in last September, during the absence of Secretary Manning and certain other important officials, that Mr. Fairchild, as Acting Secretary of the Treasury, performed an immense amount of taxing brain work. It was at a period which was probably the busiest in the history of the Department. He performed his difficult task with such marked ability and energy that it could not be otherwise than win for him the admiration and confidence of the country at large as well as of the President, It is said that Mr. Cleveland then made up his mind that in the event of Secretary Manning's permanent retirement from the Cabinet the man who had for so long and so ably been the practical Secretary of the Treasury should be rewarded for such distinguished merit.

The appointment of Mr. Fairchild is also an evidence that the strong, conservative financial policy under which the country has passed from an era of profound depression to the eve of a new period of prosperity and hope is to be continued for the remaining two years of the present administration. The effect of his promotion will be to prevent any injurious agitation of the money market, such as might have occurred if a man in whom the public had less confideuce had succeeded Mr. Manning.

Now current values will not be disturbed by the smallest fraction. Everything inside and outside of the Department will move on without a ripple; and, except that Mr. Fairchild has no taste for the practical work of politics and will not allow such matters to trespass upon his time, there will be nothing to mark the transition from the old Secretary to the new.

The Inter-State Commerce Commission has organized, located temporarily, petitioners have appeared before it and it has had its first discussion over some of the intricate sections of that complicated piece of legislation which it is expected to make plain. The Commissioners are flooded with applications for office. Every state in the Union comes to them for favors of this kind, and every incoming mail brings them more and more trouble of this kind, while all day long the corridors leading to their offices are filled by a stream of place hunters with anxious faces.

The Commission is not authorized to employ a clerk or a messenger without the approval of Mr. Lamar, the Secretary of the Interior, and their bills of expenses will not be paid unless endorsed by him. The Commissioners seem to be economically inclined, and instead of riding about the city in carriages, they may be seen walking or using the street cars.

The peremptory closing of the Washington barrooms on Sunday under the new ruling of the Commissioners of the District, promises to be successful. Last Sunday nearly every establishment dedicated to the liquor traffic was hermetically sealed, and the few who took chances were so harrassed that they will in future acquiesce in the established ordinance. The Sunday drinking in Washington has been fearfully great, and of course its results have been proportionally disastrous.

The temperance people are jubilant over the success of the Commissioners in virtually suppressing the sale of liquor in the saloons on Sunday, and a certain District Judge has gone a step further. In the case of a hotel-keeper brought before him, he decided that a landlord could neither furnish liquor to his guests in their rooms nor wine at the table on Sunday.

—"Can't eat a thing." Hood's Sarsaparilla is a wonderful medicine for creating an appetite, regulating digestion, and giving strength.

Ingersoll Admitted to the New York Bar.

NEW YORK April 1.—Colonel Robert G Ingersoll was admitted to practice at the bar in this state to-day before the general term of the supreme court. When he was asked to be sworn he refused, and affirmed in place thereof. He then signed the roll.

A Western Coal Pool.

PITTSBURG, Aprill.—The railroad coal operators of the Pittsburg district, who ship to western points, have formed an association of the maintenance of a uniform selling price for coal. Eighty per cent. of the firms shipping west and representing $12.000.000 capital have joined the pool. An effort will be made to have the Hocking Valley syndicate co-operate with the new association.

SIXTY-FIVE HUNDRED CARPENTERS READY TO STRIKE IN CHICAGO.

Building Operations will be Suspended Indefinitely Unless the Contractors Comply with the Demands of their Employers.

CHICAGO, April 3.— Six thousand five hundred carpenters employed by various contractors and shop owners throughout the city and suburbs will cease work to-morrow, and building operations in this county will be suspended indefinitely. The leaders of the carpenters, who after a long struggle last summer failed to carry out their demands for eight hours and an increase of wages, decided then to renew the contest, and think that now, when building enterprise is reviving and carpenters are wanted, the time has come to make employers yield.

—Now that sudden and violent changes of weather occur every twenty four hours, almost everyone has a troublesome cold, which if neglected, may produce results that may trouble you for the remainder of your life. Dr. Kessler's Celebrated English Cough Medicine is especially deserving praise in this class of complaints. It never fails! It never disappoints! Instructions for treatment of croup and whooping cough also accompany each bottle. Every family, especially where there is children, should have a bottle. Dissatisfied buyers can have their money refunded.

STARVATION IN TEXAS.

AUSTIN, TEXAS, April 1.—State Senator Woodward, of Calhoun county, has received a statement from Atascosa county sworn to by four responsible citizens and endorsed by the county judge, sheriff and county clerk, giving the names of nineteen families in precints three, five and six of that county, whom the affiants declare are in a condition of starvation occasioned by the drought. The number of persons in each family is stated, showing a total number of 106 persons. The paper states that these families are unable to procure sufficient food, and are now resorting in some cases to eating carcasses of cattle that have died from starvation and begging bread from their neighbors to sustain life. Those who would aid them if possible are themselves in distress, and have nothing that can be spared. The signers of the statement appeal for aid from the legislature, but as nothing more can be expected from that source, it is left for the generous and more fortunate of other counties to render such aid as they can. The statement represents a deplorable state of affairs, and concludes by saying that whatever is done should be done at once.

A DRUGGIST'S VERDICT.—W. E. George, one of the principal druggists of Philipsburg. Pa., writes:

"J. A. McDonald, Reedsville, Pa,

Dear Sir:—One of the most prominent citizens of our city and a gentleman well-known and highly respected in the surrounding country, called at our store and voluntarily offered to go before a justice of the peace and testify in an affidavit to the virtue of your Blood Purifier, saying that he had used but three bottles, and was now entirely cured of a distressing and long continued attack of erysipelas, after having tried a number of other remedies without receiving any noticeable benefit. Please send us one dozen by express. We never had a medicine in our store that sells as readily or gave such universal satisfaction as your Blood Purifier."

For scrofula, erysipelas, tetter, salt rheum, skin diseases, humors, sores, eruptions, pimples, blotches, swellings, tumors, boils, ulcers, scald head, ringworm, syphilis, and blood disorders, no remedy ever devised equals in power and efficacy McDonald's Great Blood Purifier or Sarsaparillian Alterative. Warranted. Seventy-five cents per bottle at all dealers in medicine.

LOCAL NEWS.

—SUBSCRIBE for the JOURNAL.

—New Soap Material next week at Durham's, Coburn.

C. C. LOSE, Rebersburg, Pa.

—Now roll all your Trade Dollars to Coburn, and get 100 cents for every dollar at Durham's.

—Wm. Fiedler and son, of near Penn Hall, were in town on Tuesday, to visit their many relatives and friends.

EASTER CARDS.—A full line of Easter Cards just received at the Journal store. Something very unique and beautiful.

—Mr. N. W. Cronmiller, of Bellefonte, was among our callers yesterday and we found him as lively and agreeable as ever.

FOR SALE.—A 24-inch Planing and Matching Machine. For particulars inquire of ELIAS LUSE & SON.
14-2t Millheim, Pa.

—At the Lutheran church next Sunday morning Rev. M. L. Deitzler will preach in English, and will administer the Lord's supper.

NOTICE.—Miss Emma Edmunds, of Aaronsburg, wishes to announce that she will commence her spring term of school in that place on the 18th of this month.

—The truck of the Bellefonte Hook and Ladder Company will be styled "Coronet," after the ocean yacht, which recently won the race across the Atlantic.

—The town council at their meeting last Monday voted to have a new crossing built from the eastern corner of Musser & Smith's hardware building to the race bridge.

—It is said that Geo. Mench, a resident of this place, succeeded in getting a position on the railroad as brakeman. Glad to hear that George has found permanent employment.

—The measles made great inroads into the schools of this borough the last few months, which accounts for the small number of attendants given in the school reports.

—A few have already made garden, and are watching for the first green blades of the young onions. The chances are ten to one that the young vegetables will never come up.

—Michael Ulrich is erecting a new slaughter-house back of the stable on his premises south of town. Its isolated location removes all fear of being detrimental to the health of town.

—Bessie Sturgis, under the careful nursing of her aunt, Mrs. A. Walter, safely got over an attack of the measles. Ida, the writer's daughter, is also recovering from the same disease.

—High Constable Hartman was around this week to get the canine population of Millheim and assessed 51 dogs. This is a well-guarded borough, but the tax on dogs is too dog-low.

—Mr. Newton Brumgard, one of Miles township's substantial citizens gave us a pleasant call on Tuesday and added his name to the JOURNAL list. Such visitors are indeed welcome to our sanctum.

—Willard Mechtly, the skilled bricklayer, of Beaver Springs, Snyder county, was up last week to see after summer jobs. He has the contract for the brickwork of the new Lutheran church at Coburn.

—The fence which heretofore ran along the mill race near the Crawford factory plot was recently moved back on the west side of the Knitting Mills, which greatly changes the looks of that piece of ground.

—J. Hay Brown and W. U. Hensel, the former chairman of the Democratic state committe, are the partners in the practice of law, in Lancaster, Pa., under the firm name of Brown & Hensel, since April 4th.

—Mr. Wm. Harter, of Hartleton, was in town on business last Thursday and gave this office a call. We are always glad to see him, but this time we were especially pleased with his visit. Call again, William.

—Palm Sunday was a bright and sunny day. Promenaders and pleasure riders were consequently as numerous as flies in summer. Tuesday the tune changed considerably and there was sort of a "young winter" again.

—John Fortney, of Tyrone, a brother of D. F. Fortney, Esq., of Bellefonte, died of consumption on Sunday morning. The remains were taken to Pine Grove Mills, this county, for burial. Deceased was a merchant tailor by trade and was 54 years old.

—The Bellefonte Daily News says that Rev. J. A. Bright, chaplain of the Kansas Legislature, has been presented with a gold watch by the members of that body. The numerous friends of that gentleman in Centre county will be pleased to hear that he is held in such high regard.

—Trade Dollars taken by Durham Bros & Co. at par.

—Mrs. Mary Gersting, a sister of Mrs. J. D. Keen, while in town the other evening, had an ugly fall on the boardwalk alongside the new hardware and sustained painful injuries. She is now confined to the house.

—Mr. Henry Bogenrief, an old and respected citizen of Mifflinburg, died last Friday morning at the age of 73 years and some months. Deceased carried on the blacksmith trade in that town for many years.

SUMMER SCHOOL.—Notice is hereby given that M. C. Gephart will teach a term of subscription school during the summer, beginning on Monday, April 25th Only the higher grade of pupils will be received. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

—The glass water gauge on Elias Luse & Son's engine was blown off with great force last Saturday. The tube went clear through the tin roof and not a vestige of the gauge could be found since. Excepting a scare to the factory girls no damage was done.

FOR SALE.—One Top Buggy, Sidebar Springs, One good Implement Wagon, One swell-body Sleigh, One Parlor Stove, with 60 feet of pipe and register. For terms and particulars inquire of
E. H. LONG.
Millheim, Pa.

—M. C. Gephart, the primary school teacher of this borough, closed his school on Wednesday of last week, and sent the little folks home happy and content, by treating each of his scholars to a liberal share of candy. It certainly made a sweet impression upon many of his pupils.

—The programme of the entertainment to be held by the Ladies' Mite Society will consist of Dialogues, Drills, Pantomimes, Charades, Tableaux, &c. Be sure to come; you will not be sorry for the time and money spent for the benefit of the Aaronsburg Reformed church. E. N. EDMUNDS, Sec.

—A number of Millheim people have of late contributed quite liberally towards the new instruments of the band. So have several of the commercial men stopping at the Musser house, among them druggist Marcy, of Philadelphia, and Edward Gale, the hardware agent, of Elmira, N. Y. To all these the band boys return their best thanks.

—Mrs. A. J. Sylvis, residing in one of E. C. Campbell's tenant houses on Main street, had the misfortune to break one of her ribs last Friday morning. She was standing on a chair, sweeping off cobwebs overhead when she lost her balance and fell to the floor. Mrs. Sylvis is an old lady and the accident causes her great pain and may prove a troublesome fracture.

—"Too many advertisements" is a frequent complaint heard about newspapers. But there is actually nothing to growl about. Advertisements are necessary adjuncts to newspaper columns. They show who are the live business men in a community and what they are doing. Advertisements ought to be read as well as the news, and you will always find that it pays to deal with those who advertise.

QUARTERLY MEETING.—The first quarterly conference of Brush Valley charge will be held at Madisonburg, on Saturday, the 9th inst., at 2 o'clock, p m. There will be preaching on Friday evening, the 8th, also on Saturday evening and on Sunday forenoon at 10 o'clock. The Lord's supper will be administered on Sunday evening. Rev. I. M. Pines, P. E., will be present to officiate. H. S. BASOM, Pastor.

—IT IS A CURIOUS FACT that the body is now more susceptible to benefit from medicine than at any other season. Hence the importance of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla now, when it will do you the most good. It is really wonderful for purifying and enriching the blood, creating appetite, and giving a healthy tone to the whole system. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is peculiar to itself.

—The Keystone Gazette seems to be better informed about matters in the Democratic camp than some of its democratic contemporaries in Bellefonte. It furnished a complete list of the democratic candidates for county offices last week, with appropriate comments on each of them. A question arising in the minds of a good many voters is "who is the democratic 'kicker' that furnishes such minute and very spicy information to a republican journal?"

ORANGE BLOSSOMS.—Another pair of Millheim's young people have put on the matrimonial yoke and have become man and wife, 'for better or for worse.' The parties are Miss Sallie Musser, the daughter of Ilgen Musser, and Wm. G. Ulrich, a son of Michael Ulrich. The happy event took place at the residence of the bride's brother, at Aaronsburg, on Sunday evening. We wish the couple a life of peace, happiness and prosperity.

—Word was received here on last Friday that the hotel situate nearly opposite to the Cross Keys Hotel in Berwick was destroyed by fire last Thursday night. Geo. Cummings, who is in the employ of W. G. Rook, the proprietor of the Cross Keys house, says that it got uncomfortably warm for Billy Rook, and that the house had a very narrow escape. As trouble never comes single handed it happened that Mrs. Rook received a severe sprain of her ankle by which she is now confined to her bed.

JOINED THE HOST OF ANGELS.—On Friday night, Elizabeth, the little daughter of our townsman, A. C. Musser, died, after having suffered with an affection of the lungs for several weeks. The little one had crept into the tender affections of its bereaved parents who greatly mourn their loss, but are resigned in their affliction. The child was nearly oney ear old. The funeral took place on Monday forenoon, when the remains were interred in the new cemetery. Services were held in the Lutheran church by Rev. M. L. Deitzler.

FOR SALE.—A complete steam circular saw mill, 25-horse power Portable Engine, 35 ft. carriage, belts, &c. Also, a new shingle mill, all in first-class order. For terms, &c. apply to
GEO. W. VONADA,
Madisonburg, Pa.

—Mrs. James D. Lose is at present housed up at her father's residence on Main street with the measles. The moving to her new house on Penn street is consequently delayed for a few weeks. Annie Smith, the daughter of W. H. Smith, of Penn township, is convalescing from her measly spell.

—Mrs. Lizzie Forster, of Mifflinburg, widow of the late Major Wm. R. Forster, very narrowly escaped being burned to death on Wednesday of last week. The lady was alone in her room, sitting beside a hot stove reading, when her clothing ignited. Years ago the lady had lost her sense of smell and she did not discover the fire until the flames burned her flesh. The timely help of a few neighbors saved her life and the house.

Most Excellent.

J. J. Atkins, Chief of Police, Knoxville, Tenn., writes: "My family and I are beneficiaries of your most excellent medicine, Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption; having found it to be all that you claim for it, desire to testify to its virtue. My friends to whom I have recommended it, praise it at every opportunity." Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption is guaranteed to cure Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup and every affection of Throat, Chest and Lungs.
Trial Bottle Free at J. Eisenhuth's Drug Store. Large Size $1.00.

—Bellefonte and Lock Haven are just booming with new enterprises which will go in operation in those places this summer. The Clinton Democrat says there will be glass works erected that will rival that of Bellefonte. Another brick yard is spoken of, the nail mill is in full blast and other industries are in prospect. Suppose you pass one of those plants over this way, Joe. Millheim could accomodate another manufacturing establishment very nicely, and this reminds us that there will be sold at public sale, next Saturday afternoon, the entire factory property on North street, with first class water power. Here is a chance for a paying investment.

—Messrs. D. H. and C. A. Diven, sons of Rev. W. H. Diven, of Salona, are at present sojourning in town, and during their stay enjoy the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Brumgard. D. H., the older of the brothers is engaged in canvassing with bibles and a book entitled "Sea and Land." This work, of which J. W. Buel is the author, contains a natural history of the sea and of the land, illustrated by excellent colored plates, and is that sort of literature which should be found in all family libraries. Its vast amount of information given in an entertaining and spicy manner, as well as its handsome binding cannot fail to satisfy the purchaser. The Messrs. Diven are chips of the old block, and are gentlemen in every respect, who deserve the respectful treatment of those on whom they may call and we hope will meet with abundant success.

—In a recent issue of the Centre County Times mention was made of the following aged residents of Centre Hall: William Tobias, 98 years old, Mrs. Elizabeth Harper, 83 years, Mother Reighard, also 83 and Peter Shiffler almost 80 years old. Last week's Clinton Democrat speaks of John DeLong of Sugar Valley, who is noted for his old age, being in his 95th year, and who reads without spectacles, has his third set of natural teeth and is actively engaged in selling agricultural implements. Since the subject of old age is under discussion we may say that Millheim has at least one venerable person who deserves mention for her extraordinary activity and health. Mrs. Elizabeth Tobias, widow of Rev. Daniel Tobias, is 85 years old, and walks from her home on North street to Main street and back, a distance of nearly a mile, without difficulty. She performs her own household duties daily and is noted for her industry. She is the mother of 11 children, five of whom are residents of Millheim. Her mind is bright and clear and the debilities of old age are as yet unknown to her.

SCHOOL REPORTS.—North Street school, Millheim, D. G. Smith, teacher, for last month ending April 1st: No. of scholars enrolled, males 33, females 36, total, 69. BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLOTHING.—Many mothers like to cut and make their own children's clothing and the consequence often is a bad fit, which children dislike as much as grown people. The articles in THE HOUSEKEEPER on "Home Dressmaking" give as much attention to garments for the little folks as for grown people, and any mother with the Moody Perfect Tailor System (given as a premium with THE HOUSEKEEPER one year at $1 (and 20 cts. for postage on premium) can cut any boy's or girl's garment without the slightest risk of a misfit. As the regular price of this System is $8, it is worth while for all ladies who care to know anything about the correct principles of Dressmaking to order at once, as the $8 premium costs practically nothing. Write for specimen copy of "Housekeeper" and full particulars. Address Buckeye Publishing Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

COBURN.

Four families moved into the village last week. A Mr. Cooney, from Georges Valley, into the house vacated by Andy Vonada, Mr. Stambach into Jacob Witmyer's house, E. Bartholomew into Andrew Stover's new house and Mr. Garthoff into the Seriff property.

Mr. Seriff and family removed to Watsontown on Tuesday last.

The bridge across the creek at this place is dangerous to cross for children as well as for horses. There should be a railing put up on each side to make it safe. Children are very liable to fall down into the creek and a horse becoming frightened on the bridge could easily jump off.

The Lutheran congregation seem to be in earnest in building their church. They are busy getting out and hauling stone and have engaged the services of John Kerstetter, of Millheim, as architect.

Preaching last Sabbath by Rev. Stambach.

Our Sabbath school is improving and growing in number every Sabbath, which is a good sign. Keep it up by all means.

Mrs. W. H. Kreamer has been spending the week in Mifflinburg and our station agent has been accordingly lone some and followed her on Tuesday last.

Miss Lizzie Katherman who spent last summer with her sister, Mrs. Kremer, in Coburn, was married to a gentleman from Williamsport at her home in Mifflinburg on Tuesday evening last.

The new inter-state commerce rates are posted in the waiting room at our station for public inspection. We notice the rates for passenger travel are what they were but the freight rates are reduced in some cases considerable.

VALE.

PENN HALL.

Squire Herring who has been on the sick list for some time is able to attend to business again.

R. B. Bartges who has been employed at the Penns Cave last year has again come back to his old home.

Wm. Heckman, of Centre Hall, was in town last week on business.

The Reformed congregation of this place celebrated the Lord's supper last Sabbath and in the evening the anniversary of the Missionary society was held.

Our painter, J. W. Bartges, moved to Spring Mills last Tuesday.

Miss Maggie Hannah, one of Centre Hall's accomplished ladies was visiting friends in town. DENVER DAN.

GREEN BRIAR.

Our roads are dry but in a bad condition, and need the attention of the supervisors.

Miss Ella Neese, one of our estimable young ladies, has gone to Nittany Valley to stay all summer. Sorry to lose her.

Mr. Crosthwaite, a saddler from Bellefonte, is at present engaged in making a new set of harness for Calvin Stover. He is a splendid mechanic and his work speaks for itself.

Flittings were the order of last week. Never saw such an amount of moving before.

The cold weather of last week did considerable damage to the grain in the ground. Most of it is frozen to the root.

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely. So far 94 scholars are in attendance who are instructed by the following teachers: J. C. Stover, Miss Sallie Ertel, James Immel, Mrs. C. Alexander, Mrs. J. Emerick, Miss Elmira Stover, Aaron Ulrich, Wash Tharp, John Musser.

Mr. Sober's valuable setter, which was recently shot in the leg, is receiving the best medical attendance, and is gradually improving.

Andrew Auman is confined to bed with a painful ulcer at his knee.

Our shoemaker is about to leave this place. This will make an opening for a good mechanic.

We noticed parties from Jersey Shore in the neighborhood. Wonder if they were after more horses. ZITZKA.

SPRING MILLS.

Mrs. Jerry Sankey, of Osceola, Pa., who has for some time been visiting her father, Daniel Runkle, in this place, has again returned to her home.

G. A. Runk has gone to look after his mining interests in the far west. He expects to be away the greater part of the summer

J. W. Bartges has become a full fledged citizen of this place. He occupies W. R. From's handsome residence near the railroad.

J. F. Van Valzah, Esq., one of Tyrone's wide-awake business men spent a few days with his brother Dr. F. H. Van Valzah, of this place.

Our new landlord, David Ruhl, formerly of Potter's Mills, is now neatly housed in the hotel here. He seems to be a gentleman in every respect and comes highly recommended.

Postmaster Smith, of Potters Mills, was in town this week.

J. E. Swarm's sample of the celebrated O'Brien wagon was on exhibition only a few days until it was sold. He should have at least half a dozen samples on hand.

'YOU KNOW HOW IT IS YOURSELF.—There is not a particle of doubt but you have to this day a vivid recollection of the horrible, nauseating doses of wormseed tea or syrups forced down your throat twenty years ago by on over-solicituous aunt or grandmother who pronounced your case worms. You will be able to appreciate a vermifuge like McDonald's Celebrated Worm Powders. The most effectual and reliable worm destroyer of the age. So easy and pleasant to take the patient will never know a medicine is being administered. Money refunded to dissatisfied buyers.

AARONSBURG.

J. H. Musser was to Shamokin, Pa, during last week and beginning of this week.

District Attorney J. C. Meyer was seen in town for a few hours on last Friday.

Some parties on North 2nd St. are putting down a very substantial crossing over Rachael's way, close by Bear Bros. blacksmith shop. This is a much needed improvement.

A Mr. Bowersox, from Snyder Co., was visiting his sister, Miss Fannie Bowersox, living at Jessie Werts, of this place.

Our ladies are anxiously awaiting the opening of the new millinery shop, by a Miss Grove, from Centre Hall. We are told the lady is in the east at present buying her stock. The west addition to J. G. Meyer's residence is the place rented for the enterprise. A good location.

John Beaver's house on North 2nd St. is nearing completion, Johnny is pushing the work very slowly but we suppose surely.

Miss Alice R. Bollinger, formerly of this place, now of Dakota, Ill., evidently intends making that place her future home, since she had several boxes of her household goods shipped to the above place last week. Girls sometimes go west to get married and, of course, grow up with the country, Well, better late than never.

Miss Fannie Bowersox who had been living at Jessie Werts for the past few years moved herself and traps to William Walker's at Rebersburg on last Monday. Fanny is a good housekeeper.

Garden making has already commenced in our town. We heard of several families who have set out onions and sowed saliad.

Measles of the eye, or, as some of the boys say Pink Eye is a disease raging among our people at present. It is very painful and lasts from 7 to 14 days. It is somewhat epidemical.

Communion services in the Lutheran church on last Sunday morning and evening were very largely attended. Rev. Lenhard, of Rebersburg, preached for Rev. Deitzler in the evening, the singing by the choir was highly complimented by a portion of the audience.

Aaronsburg has a tin shop, and, we are told, a harness shop. Will soon have a millinery shop. Next in order will be a good fashionable tailor and we are fixed—O. K.

There was considerable shifting of families in and about Aaronsburg this spring. Thos. Edmunds moved into the Hotel, Andy Immel goes we don't know where, Frank Tomlinson goes into Tom. Edmund's house, C. W. Burd takes what Frank Tomlinson left viz. ½ of Samuel Beaver's house, Mrs. Sarah King lately purchased and moved into the house where Chas. Burd lived, known as the Joseph Holloway house, West end North 2nd St., Mr. Hines bought and moved on the John Stover place below town while John Stover moves to Brushvalley below Rebersburg, Albert Stambach & Clark Herman together will occupy the John Russell house vacated by Hines. Mr. Hannah our new blacksmith will move into part of Mrs. Simon Rote's house vacated by Albert Stambach Ira Gramley moves into the house left by Clark Herman, Miss Polly Stover will occupy the house she bought of Ira Gramley, H. J. Crouse moved to Lock Haven & Abs. Musser goes into Crouse's house. Mr. Fry our new tinner moved into the house Abs Musser left lately, purchased by Mr. Fry of the J. R. Bell estate. Wilmer Stover moved into his new house in the Rote addition and Mr. Jackson goes where Wilmer left. I will stop right here, Mr. Editor, for fear I will get the entire town moved about. ANOTHER.

REBERSBURG.

John Kreamer put a new roof on the north side of his house which looks greatly improved.

Mrs. Bower spent several days in visiting her sister, Mrs. Frantz, at Tylersville,

Cyrus Brumgard is slowly recovering from his late illness.

Mrs. Bowersox is also improving some.

Julius Weidenheimer, of Philadelphia, holds forth at the Rebersburg hotel at present with a full stock of watches, &c., which he offers for sale.

Miss Maggie Walker, of this place, who is now Mrs. John Garthoff, moved to Coburn on Tuesday.

Wm. Kreamer sold a 2-year-old colt, of Percheron stock, to Jacob Winkelblech, in Penns Valley.

Valetine Breon vacated Dan. Weaver's mill and moved on Anthony Bierly's farm, above town.

A great many people were in town last Saturday.

John Harter, the manager of the supply store at this place, traded a trunk to Elias Breon on a white rat last Saturday evening.

Wes. Snyder, while making fire one morning last week run an ugly splinter into his hand and he now nurses a very sore hand.

George Smull left for Dakota, Ill., one day last week, where he expects to buy some land. If he cannot suit himself there he will go on to Kansas and invest in land in that state.

Rumor has it that Mrs. Wm. Stover purchased the old Lutheran parsonage for $800. The foundation stones are being hauled for the new parsonage which is to be erected this summer.

The dispute between Royer and Smull, who bought the Jacob Shultz farm a few months ago has finally been settled. Royer takes the entire farm and pays $30 to Smull for posts, &c., which the latter had already hauled on the ground.

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and we ask you to try Hood's Peculiar Sarsaparilla. It strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. The peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation of the vegetable remedies used give to Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar curative powers. No To Itself other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures. If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other instead. It is a Peculiar Medicine, and is worthy your confidence.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

that the most delicate stomach will bear.

A SPECIFIC FOR MALARIA, RHEUMATISM, NERVOUS PROSTRATION, and all Germ Diseases.

FOR COLDS KASKINE HAS BEEN FOUND TO BE ALMOST A SPECIFIC. Superior to quinine.

Mr. F. A. Miller, 630 East 157th street, New York, was cured by Kaskine of extreme malarial postration after seven years suffering. He had run down from 175 pounds to 97, began on Kaskine in June, 1886, went to work in one month, regained his full weight in six months. Quinine did him no good whatever.

Mr. Charles Baxter, architect, 133 East 126th street, New York, was cured by Kaskine of dumb ague in three months after quinine treatment for ten years.

Mrs. J. Lawson, 141 Bergen St., Brooklyn, was cured of malaria and nervous dyspepsia of many years standing by Kaskine, the quinine treatment having wholly failed.

Rev. Jas. L. Hall, Chaplain Albany Penitentiary, writes that Kaskine has cured his wife, after twenty years suffering from malaria and nervous dyspepsia.

Letter from the above persons, giving full details, will be sent on application.

Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle. Sold by or sent by mail on receipt of price.

How She Lost Her Maid.

Speaking of humbug, a Fifth avenue belle's maid, a trim pretty creature, suddenly disappeared recently: and it was a wonder, because the girl was well paid in proportion to her good looks—for it is deliciously swell now to have a pretty body servant. She had not seemingly been dissatisfied with her work or wages. Her employer feared that some sentimental harm had come to her, and charitably went so far as to hire a private detective to hunt her up. Where do you think he found her? She was an advertising exhibit in a hair wash establishment. There is a boom on in that industry. Phenominally long-haired women are posed in the windows of stores where hair tonics are on sale, and competition is hot. The comely maid had luxuriant tresses, which grew so heavily and rapidly that she went periodically to a hair dresser to have them cut short.

"Twenty-four dollars a month," she replied.

"I can get you double that," he said, "and nothing at all to do except to be admired. Oh, don't be alarmed—there's no harm in it. Messrs. Blank and Co., the well-known makers of Cerulian Glory, want to boom their stuff. You are just the girl they desire. You will have your hair shaved close. Then they will show you freely to their customers, telling them that you lost your hair years ago by fever, and had given up all hope of regaining it; you have tried many perparations in vain; they are going to experiment on you. Your hair grows fast and fine—it is on view from day to day—it becomes a marvel—the fame of it spreads by word of mouth, and by the time your head has regained its usual beauty they have sold 1,000 extra bottles of Cerulian, and you have received three months' extra wages, See?"

She saw; and that was how the Fifth avenue belle lost her pretty maid.

Another Art Craze.

The latest art work among ladies is known as the "French Craze," for decorating china, glassware, etc. It is something entirely new, and is both profitable and fascinating. It is very popular in New York, Boston and other Eastern cities. To ladies desiring to learn the Art, we will send an elegant china placque (size 18 inches,) handsomely decorated, for a model, together with a box of material, 100 colored designs assorted in flowers, animals, soldiers, landscapes, etc., complete, with full instructions, upon receipt of only $1.00. The placque alone is worth more than the amount charged. To every lady ordering this outfit who encloses the address of five other ladies interested in Art matters, to whom we can mail our new catalogue of Art Goods, we will enclose extra and without charge, an imitation hand-painted brass placque. Instruction book in painting, 16 colored pictures &c. only 15c. Embroidery Silk, best quality, all colors, 80cts per 100 skeins. Tinsel Braid, gold or silver, for art embroidery and needle work, large ball, only 15 cts Macrame Cord, white, 50c per lb; any color, 60c per lb. Other goods at equally low prices. Address,

Miscellaneous News.

A Daring Train Robber.

A Lake Shore Messenger Shot, Gagged and Bound, and the Safe Robbed.

FRANKFORT, N. Y., March 31.—Express Messenger Leake, who was robbed between Clark's Mills and Frankfort last night, reached here about midnight and was able to proceed to the office of Drs. Skiff & Richards, where his wound was dressed. He was shot in the upper part of the right arm, the ball passing around the shoulder, causing an ugly wound. The doctors probed for the ball, but were unable to locate it. Leake endured the operation heroically, without chloroform. He was weak from the shock and loss of blood, but walked to the station and took the 3.30 a. m. train for Albany, on his way home to Sharon Springs. He stated to a reporter that soon after his train left Clark's Mills a man entered his car through the side door, which he shoved back, saying as he entered, "Throw up your hands."

Leake did not realize for a moment what was up, and failed to comply with the demand. The intruder thereupon leveled his revolver at the messenger and shot him. Leak fell to the floor of the car, and his assailant said: "Now, —— you, when I tell you to hold up your hands again you'll do it, won't you?" The assailant then proceeded to bind the hands and feet of Leake, and put a gag in his mouth. One of his legs the robber tied to the safe. The desperado then took a bunch of keys from the pocket of the messenger and unlocked the safe, which he rifled of its money packages. The amount secured is believed to be between $700 and $800. The robber left the car at the Delaware, Lakawanna and Western railroad crossing. Before leaving the car the robber said to Leake:—"If you say anything about this I'll come back and kill you." The messenger replied: "You wouldn't rob a man and kill him too would you?" "Yes, I would," said the robber, as he left. Leake tried to free himself, but did not succeed. At Utica his car was opened and he was freed from his uncomfortable position. At this place it was decided that he had better stop over and have his wound attended to. The messenger says his assailant was a large, strong man, wearing a mask that hung down over his chest. His hair was cut very short at the back and his hands were callous and dirty.

Five Men Injured, Two of Which are so terribly Burned that their Lives are Despaired of.

ERIE, Pa., March 31.—A serious and perhaps fatal boiler explosion occurred this morning in the boiler works of T. M. Nagle, in which Edgar L. Sturtevant, of Cleveland, Ohio, inspector for the Hartford steam boiler insurance company; Patrick Kelly, William McCloud, James Welch and A. L. Murphy of this place, were injured. The lives of the first three are dispaired of. A hydraulic test of a twenty-horse power boiler has just been made and it was fixed up for the purpose of getting up steam pressure. The gauge marked 140 pounds and Inspector Sturtevant was looking into the fire box when the flue plate gave way and superhead steam rushed out, enveloping the Inspector and Kelly and McCloud and burning them most frightfully. There is not a spot on Kelly's body as large as the palm of his hand that is not raw.
